My Name is Sam Tollett. I am very excited to be one of the new Interns at CTK this Year. Some of my favorite activities are hunting, fishing and anything else outdoor related.

I grew up outside of Cleveland Ohio with my parents Kathy and Phil Tollett, and my younger sister Julia. My mom Kathy is a Science teacher at a local catholic school while my dad is the director of purchasing for a food service company, and my sister is a financial analyst.

What brought me to CTK is my love of God and discerning His call for me and to take some time in his presence figuring out where He is calling me.

My hopes for this year are to get to know God better, get to know the parishioners better and be able to help bring God into the Missoula community.

Introducing Our Interns

My name is Gavin Cummings, and I'll be serving as a Christ the King Parish Intern this year. I grew up in a small-town corner of San Diego county -- think cows and tumbleweeds, not beaches and palm trees. After finishing high school, I packed up my car and drove north to attend Carroll College, where I graduated with a degree in marketing -- much to the surprise of anyone who's ever watched me struggle through an hour of studying.

After that, I spent two years living in Boise, where I wrote commercials and taglines for a small marketing firm. But before long, I found myself aching for Big Sky country, and feeling a strong desire to get more involved in the Church. After a few phone calls with a couple of my favorite priests, I found myself loading up the car yet again -- this time for Missoula, and the promise of a cool new adventure.

This year, I hope to serve the parish and its people in any way I can. I'm excited to be running the Junior High Youth group, as well as helping with Young Adult ministry.
